supporting the republican ticket which they supported secretly in 1896. The masses of the Democratic people are true to affect and the Chicago platform. They have been betrayed by gold standard feaders at times, but they have taken them by the throat and choked them into comparative silence if not into submission. That Democracy in 1896 had the courage to shake herself free from her plutocratic leaders and again declare for the people is one of the miracle of history. Every indication now points to a repetition of that miracle in 1890. No man acquainted with the trend of events in this nation doubts for a moment that the Democratic party will declare for silver in 1990 and renominate Bryan, But it will not be done without a struggle. The plutocrasts and money-changers in the Democratic party are doing all they can to prevent it, and silver papers, especially in the west, should hold up the hands of Bryan and encourage the masses in this fight against the bosses. If silver papers in silver states play the coward and cry out in despair that it is useless longer to continue the fight for silver, what effect must such traiterous conduct have on the rank and file of the south and middle west that are now preparing the preliminaries for another battle for the white metal? They need the united voice of the people of the west bidding them hepe and pledging them deathless loyalty to the cause of man. They should hear no wall of despair, but ringing clear and true across our snow peaks where sleep illimitable treasures of gold and silver, from every city and hamilet of the west, the struggling heroes there should eatch the wird strains of the pibroch and the silver notes of the inspiring Marselliaise.
